Town Council.

A meeting of the town council was held Monday evening. Mayor Chambers was in the chair and all councillors were present.

A letter was read from the provincial government in respect to unemployment relief, which stated that a relief dividend of $5.00 per month would be paid from dominion and provincial funds, provided that the town pay $2.50 per month. Any additional relief required would be paid half each by the town and government.

A motion was passed adopting the government relief plan, and that the relief be paid by relief orders. Three new cases of unemployment relief were dealt with. Those receiving relief will be required to work out the town's portion.

A grant of $100 was made to the local branch of the Red Cross Society.

It was decided that the town again operate the skating rink during the winter and that arrangements be made with Rinks Ltd. Councillors Reiber and Pitt were appointed a committee to have charge, and Mr. Harry Gabel was appointed caretaker. The price of season tickets and admission to the rink will be the same as last year. Free skating for schoolchildren will again be provided, the days and hours to be arranged later.

E. Ford fire chief met with the council and discussed the fire equipment. He made several recommendations, including a more efficient alarm system. Councillors Budgeon and Fleury were appointed a committee to look into the matter. Mr. Ford was asked to appoint two members to the fire brigade to replace two who have left town.

School Children Enjoy Hallowe'en

Witches, goblins, black cats and "what have you" were all represented at the public school last Thursday afternoon when the kiddies celebrated "Hallowe'en." Games were participated in and the usual Hallowe'en lunch enjoyed.

Prizes were awarded for the best costumes and won by the following:

Miss Liesemer's room: Shirley DeWitt.

Miss Jackson's room: Gordon Wordie.

Mr. Traub's room: Deane Geiger.

Mr. Ford's room: Mary Boorman.

Turkey Shoot Next Monday

The turkey shoot which has been arranged by the Didsbury Gun Club promises to be one of the most successful staged here. Arrangements have been made to have only first-class birds as prizes in all the competitions, and the committee in charge will see that the different contests are run smoothly. A goodly number of sportsmen have declared their intentions of attending the shoot. There will be a special competition for novices.

NOTICE.

The local Elevator Men wish to announce that COMMENCING MONDAY, NOV. 11th all elevators will be closed on Wednesday afternoons at 1 o'clock.

Also on other holidays as taken by the local business houses.

Armistice Day.

Armistice Day, Monday, Nov. 11th is a public holiday and all business houses will be closed on that day.

The stores will be open on Wednesday afternoon next week.

Canadian Legion Will Give Supper & Concert

The Canadian Legion has again arranged to give their supper, concert and dance on Armistice Day.

Those who have attended on previous occasions know that the Legion supper and dance is one of the events of the season. Preparations have been made to take care of a large crowd, and supper will be served in the United Church basement from 6 to 8 p.m.

The concert will be held in the Opera House at 8:30 and a dance after the concert.

Will Have Charge of Opera House.

Mr. J. W. Halton will in future have charge of the Didsbury Opera House, and arrangements for renting the hall can be made through him.

Young People Enjoy Hallowe'en Party

The Tuxis, Trail Rangers and three CGIT groups enjoyed a wonderful Hallowe'en party in the basement of the United Church last Thursday evening. About 50 young people were present and practically all in costume. Almost every imaginable character was represented and costumes were both original and humorous.

The guests were first initiated in the "mystery walk," after which jolly games, contests and stunts were indulged in.

One of the interesting features of the evening was lighting the birthday cake celebrating the 21st anniversary of the Tuxis group.

Prizes for the best costumes were won by Elizabeth Austin as "Pirate" and Eddie Carleton as one of the "Three Musketeers."

Serving of lunch brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

Westcott W. I. will hold their annual bazaar at Westcott School on Friday, November 15 at 8 p.m. Fancywork, sewing and other articles will be auctioned. A good program. Adults 25c, children under 15 free.

The Relief Expenditure Burden

With the Federal elections over and the political complexion of the next Parliament of Canada defined, the government of the country will be faced with a number of important problems to decide, and not the least of these is the question of the steps which must be taken to ease the debt burden of governmental units in Western Canada.

By governmental units is meant the governments of the provinces and of the municipalities, urban and rural.

During the past five years the public finances of the Western Canadian provinces and of the municipalities, which are their creatures, have been strained to the breaking point to meet the problems which drought and general unemployment have brought in their train.

Not only has the public purse of the Western provinces and of the municipalities been depleted in the struggle to ensure that their citizens should not starve, freeze or go shelterless in their grim fight against great odds, but they have been obliged to pledge their future resources, to an alarming extent, to enable the citizens of the present generation to keep their heads above water.

In the three prairie provinces millions of dollars have been spent to furnish a substantial percentage of the population with food, fuel and clothing, and in the urban centres with shelter as well; and this, despite the fact that the Federal government has also contributed large sums to bolster up the provinces and the municipalities in their fight to ensure the necessities of life for their people.

In addition, however, to the money which has been expended out of current revenues these provincial and municipal governments have pledged many more millions of dollars against the credit of the future earning power of the people, a debt which will have to be liquidated in the future either by the taxpayers of to-day or by the rising generation, or a combination of both.

Without going into statistics which, at the best, make dry reading, it is axiomatic to say that the indebtedness which has been piled up on this count, directly and indirectly, reaches a staggering total and has passed the figure which is within the competence of these governmental units to meet from existing resources.

One of the conditions contributing to the existing condition of the finances of the Western provinces and municipalities is the inequity of the distribution of the tax burden as between individual taxpayers and the inequity of the distribution of the bases of taxation as between the federal, provincial and municipal governing entities.

The financial situation which has developed as a result of these inequalities is one which will have to be faced and remedied by the newly-elected Parliament if the Western provinces and municipalities are to remain solvent and are to be enabled to extricate themselves from a position which has become intolerable.

So far as the municipal governments are concerned, their financial plight has been accentuated by practical limitation to realty as, at least, the principal tax base, and this applies to both rurals and urbans, only in different degree. Land has more than passed the limit of its endurance as a source of revenue for governments. Other spheres of taxation are denied to the municipalities, and this is one discriminatory feature which will have to be remedied.

In seeking additional sources of revenue municipalities are cramped by legislative action of their superior provinces and the provinces in turn are hampered by Federal authority.

What is needed is a nation-wide conference in which the municipalities can get together with the provinces and the Dominion and, in a spirit of tolerance and recognition of the difficulties of one another, come to an agreement which will provide for specific delimitation of spheres of taxation and a definite understanding that the several governmental units will not in future encroach upon one another's taxation preserves.

This understanding should be translated into legislative enactment and if it involves amendments to the British North America Act, as undoubtedly it would, efforts should be made to secure the necessary sanction.

The problem of relief, it has been reiterated by competent authorities time and again, is a national one. The provinces have said so. The urban municipalities have said so and the rural municipalities hold the same view, even if they have not adopted resolutions in convention to that effect.

If the Federal government is not prepared to recognize the situation in the west as a national problem, the only alternative is for the Federal government to make it possible for the provinces and municipalities to liquidate past, present and future expenditures by providing them with the machinery to levy the money where the money is available.

Beauty In Old London

Pictures Of Infinite Variety Can Be Seen From Great Bridges

Old St. Paul's, perched high on Ludgate Hill, once a commanding position, is being gradually crowded out by other buildings. The most impressive sight of Wren's venerable cathedral is that looking from Fleet-street up Ludgate Hill. I have heard jaded newspaper men, familiar with Fleet-street at all hours of the day and night, grow lyrical about the loveliness of that glimpse of St. Paul's at dawn.

A great white London seems to have sprung up like magic. But it has not obliterated the past, and one of the charms of a walk through the city is the unexpected glimpses one gets through its narrow courts and alleys of old taverns, little shops, and ivied churches that have stood unchanging through the centuries.

It has been said that one cannot walk a hundred yards in London without seeing a bunch of trees. That is almost completely true. In fact, there are enough trees in the London streets and squares to make up, if placed together, a very respectable forest. Who has ever noted that there are over seventy trees in the Strand?

But nothing excels the river views. Wherever one looks, or from whatever angle of the seven great bridges from the Tower to Lambeth, there is picture after picture of infinite variety and beauty. At night, when the Embankment sparkles with its thousand lights, the view from the bridges of London's curving waterfront has the quality of pure magic. No Whistler nocturne could do it justice.—Overseas Daily Mail.

Serum For Paralysis

Demonstration Is Made Of New Treatment For Dread Disease

A serum he said was as positive and effective in the treatment of infantile paralysis as the serum widely used in treating diphtheria was demonstrated by Dr. E. C. Rosenow of the Mayo Foundation, University of Minnesota, before members of the Kentucky State Medical Association.

The serum, Dr. Rosenow told the assembled physicians and surgeons, is the result of 19 years of experimentation and while it does not completely solve the problem it is effective when used within 48 hours after the disease is contracted. Within that period it is as effective and positive as the serum used for diphtheria, Dr. Rosenow said.

Dr. A. T. McCormack, secretary of the Kentucky state board of health, said the demonstration made by Dr. Rosenow was "pretty conclusive."

Strange City In Arabia

Streets Of Lamu Lined With Ruins Of Many Palaces

Lamu, an ancient Arabian city of mystery, is built on a little island not far from Mombasa, in the Kenya Colony. The streets of this strange municipality, which are so narrow that the sun scarcely even shines in them, are lined with the ruins of many palaces. The inhabitants of Lamu are descendants of the old Persians who founded a colony on the island about A.D. 700, and are very proud of their aristocratic origin and traditions, for more than a thousand years ago their ancestors had produced great poets, architects and jewelers. The population makes a living by cultivating coco-palms, by fishing and collecting ambergris.

A Rainbow Snow Storm

Beautiful Layers Of Varied Colors Fell On Australian Alps

Colored snow fell on the Australian Alps for the second time this winter. It changed the landscape around Hotham Heights from white to chocolate within a few hours, while at Mt. Buller the inhabitants woke to see a bright red layer on the snow, half an inch deep. By noon heavy snow had blotted out the red layer. The most remarkable fall was at St. Bernard's Hospice, where pink snow fell in two layers, an inch and a half thick, with a 6-inch strip glittering white snow sandwiched in between.

Tokio Subway Ultra-Modern

Goes One Better Than Those Of Other World Cities

According to passengers recently returned to Seattle, Wash., on the President Jefferson, Tokio's subway combines the best features of the New York sub., the Paris metro, and the London tube, with a few added innovations of its own. Coins in the slot machines are magnified, so that guards may detect spurious money. White enamel straps snap back into place when not in use. Automatic doors have soft edges which may bump but not scar the slightly tardy passenger. Cars carrying 200 passengers leave a station every three minutes.

Rear Admiral Byrd Says Dominion Pilots Best For Arctic Exploration

A tribute to Canada's north country flyers was paid at Toronto by Rear-Admiral Byrd, famous United States Antarctic explorer. Replying to Mayor Simpson's welcome at a civic reception outside of city hall, Admiral Byrd said Canadians knew more of polar flying than any other pilots. Long experience flying over snow and ice and in sub-zero weather made them excellent pilots for Arctic or Antarctic expeditions, he said.

Free Samples of Vick Aids To Better Control of Colds Offered by Local Druggists

Trial Packages Contain Vicks Va-tro-nol, Vicks VapoRub And a Home Guide to Fewer and Shorter Colds --- Druggists Also Have Free Samples of Vicks Medicated Cough Drops

Thousands of Canadian families have already gained greater freedom from colds—with the help of the famous Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

Developed by the makers of Vicks VapoRub, this home guide to fewer and shorter colds is commonsense and medically sound. It is based on 30 years of practical experience and research by Vicks Chemists, specializing in the study of colds. Its worth has been demonstrated not only in everyday home use, but also in extensive clinical tests under medical supervision.

And now—to introduce Vicks Plan to more families in this section—local druggists are distributing free trial packages containing complete details of the Plan and samples of the Vicks Colds-Control Aids.

Aid in Preventing Many Colds
Discovery of Vicks Va-tro-nol, unique aid in preventing colds, made Vicks Plan possible. Especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start—Va-tro-nol aids and stimulates Nature's own functions to prevent many colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Va-tro-nol is easy and convenient to use—any time or place. Just a few drops up each nostril at the first nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze. Used in time, it helps to avoid many colds.

Family Standby for Relieving Colds
If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, Vicks Vapo-Rub—the family standby for relieving colds—helps to end it quicker. Simply rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors direct to inflamed air-passages.

Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, helps break congestion. Often by morning, the worst of the cold is over.

(Ever since the introduction of Vapo-Rub, millions of people have used it as they would a cough drop, by melting a little on the tongue. Now, in Vicks Medicated Cough Drops, the throat-soothing ingredients of Vapo-Rub are available in convenient candy form—a really medicated and distinctive cough drop.)

Get Your Free Samples Today
Don't forget—your druggist has a few free trial packages of these Vicks Aids to Better Control of Colds. See him today, before they're all gone.

The free packages contain all the information you need for following Vicks Plan. Test the samples . . . then prove what Vicks Plan can do for you and your family. You'll find it easy to follow in your own home.

Youth From Many Lands Give Views On How To Maintain Peace of the World

The following quotations are extracted from essays submitted to the New History Society in its three competitions offered to students of the universities and colleges of the United States, Europe and South and Central America, Mexico and the West Indies, on How Can Colleges Promote World Peace? How can the Youth of the Universities and Schools Contribute to the Realization of a United States of the World? How Can the Youth of the Universities and Professional Schools Contribute to the Reconstruction of the Human Commonwealth?

Keep alive the will to peace and the will to sacrifice for peace.—Austria.

The nations must abandon the principle of colonization, which consists of enriching themselves at the expense of the colonized peoples.—Belgium.

Youth must free itself of excessive respect for dead traditions and rouse itself from the contemplation of idols which it needs must dethrone.—Brazil.

Let us irrevocably refuse all military service.—Bulgaria.

Wholesome ideas can develop only in the sunlight of liberty, which turns to dust everything inimical to the natural principles of the peoples, who of themselves know the best remedy for their wounds.—Cuba.

Turn to the youth which wants peace and a better life—the old do not understand.—Czechoslovakia.

Through the industry of youth at the universities and schools, through the donations of the rich, the United States and the world should, within a few years, become a reality.—Denmark.

Humanity can be better served by youth at a low cost than it has been by mature generations at a high cost.—Ecuador.

The creation of the United States of the World depends on mutual understanding, and this will only be possible through the use of a universal language.—Estonia.

Let youth believe, now and always, that other nations also seek that which is beautiful, true, just and right.—Finland.

Let the nations die so that humanity may live!—France.

Our goal is peace and the realization of the United States of the World. We wish to enlist in the service of this ideal, and, in its name, become the heroes of peace.—Germany.

Warfare will continue just as long as public opinion does not object.—Great Britain.

Youth! Unite if you wish to succeed!—Greece.

Promote among the youth those virtues which will make them citizens of the United States of the World.—Holland.

It is impossible to realize the United States of the World so long as absolute sovereignty and independence prevail.—Hungary.

Boycott the lectures of professors who sympathize with militarism. Develop a vast agitation against war.—Italy.

If youth understands itself to-day, it will unite the world to-morrow.—Jugoslavia.

Youth holds in its hands the key to the United States of the World.—Latvia.

The youth of the colleges and schools must be united in an International Student League.—Lithuania.

We certainly need new teachers; otherwise the young will sing the same old songs.—Luxembourg.

Our first duty is to believe in the good will of others.—Norway.

Man! Be a citizen of the world!—Poland.

The Franco-German problem is the most important of all. If it were settled, confidence would be re-established in the whole world.—Portugal.

Youth must free itself from the prejudices of a bankrupt society.—Rumania.

There are about 18.8 square feet of skin on the average human body, according to a new method of figuring this mathematical-medical problem.

Liability On Any Farm

Dog Improperly Trained Is Harmful To Live Stock

A dog is a very useful servant about the farm if it has brains and is properly trained, but a brainless dog is a liability on any farm where live stock is kept. Some people have the habit of setting the dog on the cows or pigs and sending them helter-skelter out of the yard or field. As a rule animals so dogged are always nervous and it is impossible to get near them in the field or paddock. We like to go into the pasture and have the cattle come to us rather than flee away.

A reader of the Farmers' Advocate recently wrote asking if dogging cows did them any harm, and particularly wanted to know if it made churning difficult. We do not know about dogging cows causing difficult churning but we are satisfied that it will affect the milk yield and possibly the fat test. A good deal of loss has resulted one way and another by having a fast working dog behind the cows when they are being put into the stable.

A dog will save many steps, but train it to walk the cows rather than run them. If it won't do this, then it has no place on a live stock farm. Some dogs are very easily trained if they are in the right hands while other dogs never seem to learn.—Farmer's Advocate.

Standard Has Been Raised

High Production Expected Makes It Hard For Cow

We were reading something to-day about a cow which in a year produced 1,400 pounds of butter fat, and we learn that even that high standing does not entitle the cow to top place in the honor roll. It was also stated that farmers and dairymen were not well advised to keep cows which would not start moving up toward the higher reaches of production. And that of course may be so, "Weed them out" was the short phrase directed toward the cows which were doing only fair work or something not quite as good as that. That is a hard sort of phrase from which mercy and sentiment have been stripped.

So we fear if that idea travels it is going to be hard on the cow which runs down to 400 pounds of butter fat during the milking season which can be regarded, we suppose, as the fiscal year of the cow. Under such circumstances it is going to be tough being a cow, much tougher than it used to be.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

To Safeguard Motorists

New Device Claimed To Remove Danger From Carbon Monoxide Fumes

Seven years in development, a device perfected by two Winnipeg garagemen will remove from motorists the menace of poisonous carbon monoxide fumes, they claimed.

The invention, they said, ensures complete combustion. It consists of a small cylinder fitted over the intake in the manifold of an automobile motor at the back of the carburetor. From a small can on top of the cylinder a chemical feeds into the manifold as the motor starts.

The inventors, John Forbes and W. Denny Overall, claim the chemical reduces the amount of carbon monoxide to about one per cent. They estimated it would, with their device in operation, take 12 hours in a closed garage 12 by eight feet to kill a man.

Father took his small son to church. The clergyman announced: "We shall now sing hymn two hundred and twenty-two." "Ten thousand times ten thousand." "Two hundred and twenty-two."

France Has Big Industry

Billions Of Flowers Turned Into Perfume Every Year

That women all over the world may indulge their fancy in exotic scents, billions of blossoms are turned into perfume every year by the factories of Grasse, France.

Statistics issued by the perfume factories for 1931 show that more than 10,000,000,000 jasmine blossoms were used for perfume. Forty million pounds of roses were required and 50,000,000 pounds of orange blossoms. Flowers from Grasse, known the world over as a perfume manufacturing centre, are sent to all parts of Europe in special trains to other factories.

Thousands of tourists who come to the Riviera visit the factories and view the process of perfume making from the gathering of the flowers to the distilling and bottling of the essence.

Graphic Description Of Fury Of Hurricanes That Beset The Caribbean Sea

Hurricanes, according to a writer in the New York Times, have their origin in the quietest section of the ocean known as the Doldrums near the equator. But until they reach the West they do not gather Titan force.

How the hurricane actually starts men do not know. They talk of convection and other theories, of upward-moving currents of air, of condensation and pressure, and of air rushing in to sweep in a faster and faster spiral. Finally centrifugal force make a hole in the centre, where no storm rages and where are slowly ascending currents of air. Those who have seen a hole grow larger and larger in water escaping from a circular washbasin have seen this process at work on a small scale.

But by the time this happens the tropical cyclone, as it is technically called, has got up such a speed that it is a roaring and devouring monster. When it first appears and is reported, generally to the east of the Windward and Leeward Islands at the eastern end of the Caribbean, it may be 300 miles in diameter, the centre travelling at twelve or fifteen miles an hour and the whirling air mass attaining unbelievable speeds. Some of the gusts have been estimated at 180 to 200 miles an hour—estimated because the wind instruments invariably blow away. The speed has been calculated by the force necessary to push over heavy stone monuments.

It is impossible to stand up in a wind of more than 100 miles an hour, and most hurricanes at this point in their career reach that velocity without half trying. They tear structures apart, whip trees to pieces and strew them across the settlements, pick up every kind of loose boarding and whirl it through the air at a rate which is as deadly as it is terrifying.

The bending palms and other trees, the shrill whine of the wind through this vegetation, and the deep growl of heavier currents as they race across a town make every human and animal thing realize how puny is their force against the storm. There is a constant cannonade, as though the air, thick with rain and wind-driven spray, were a battery of field guns laying down a barrage. It is impossible to stand, the vision is constricted to a few feet, and the senses are numbed and dulled by the vicious pounding of wind pressure.

If one is fortunate, or unfortunate, enough to be able to see some few feet through the maelstrom of rain and wind, there is a confused sense of the world's drifting by in fragments. Bits of trees, of roofs, of houses slide by on the wind as though they were pieces of paper carried upon the storm; weight has lost its gravitational power, and sheet iron is a floating tissue.

Above all is the howl, the pounding howl, of wind battering things to pieces, plucking at the surface of the earth with fingers that draw and lift and suck into the whirlwind above.

Finally the storm passes, or seems to. There is a lull, and the wind dies to a complete calm in which one may see a piece of paper sucked upward. This is the centre of the storm, the hole in the whirlwind. Perhaps there is clear sky above, the sun may shine down for a moment. There is a peace that is a solace to worn nerves. But those who have been through hurricanes know that this is merely a temporary calm. Captains of ships who find their way into this silent area plot their way carefully that they may get out on the easiest and shortest storm path—for they know that the storm is coming again.

To live through a hurricane on the coast is to get the impression of a world gone mad, of the winds of the universe jabbing at the earth with spears of dim and slanting light, of water that pours horizontally across the horizon a few feet away, of tangled bits of woodwork flying by on wings, of thuds and crashes of metal and timber, of trees pierced by slivers of wood, of men and women fleeing from demolished houses and clinging to the base of a tree or pole while the debris of a riven world goes by them with insane fury.

One Of Oldest Spices

Peppercorn Grows On Creeping Vine In Tropical Forests

Pepper is one of the oldest spices known. Hippocrates used it as a medicine. Pepper differs from most other spices in this, that its pungency resides not in the volatile parts or essential oil, but in a substance of a more fixed kind, which does not rise in the heat of boiling water. The peppercorn which, when ground is the familiar black or white pepper, grows on a creeping vine, usually at its best in the moist heat of a low-lying tropical forest. When pepper is cultivated on a large scale it is a common practice to plant trees to support the creeper and provide shade. When the berries are changing from green to red they are collected, and dried in the sun until they become black and shrivelled. Ground in this condition, they produce black pepper. If white is required the black skins are removed.

Houses Always Occupied

Realty agents have no trouble in renting a group of houses at Augsburg, South Bavaria. Since they were built 415 years ago they have never been vacant. The buildings are among 53 houses constructed by Jacob Fuger, the German banker, in 1520. They rent for $1 a year.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

THAT THIRD DIMENSION

How many times have you heard the expression "Don't take a picture with your camera facing the sun"? It's one of the old beliefs in amateur photography that has been handed down from year to year to every new snapshotter.

While this is good advice for the beginner it is not necessary to forever abide by this rule. Those of us who like to try breaking such rules have found that most of the work of which we are proud has been produced under other lightings. The important thing to remember is that you must never stand so that sunlight will strike into the lens.

The lighting of the subject has much to do with securing that quality sometimes called "atmosphere" in a picture. There are a number of ways in which a photograph may be given apparent depth or "third dimension." Taking the picture when there are long shadows, getting a reflection in the foreground, using strong side-lighting or back-lighting, and timing the exposure just right so that the detail of objects in shadow is not blocked out, are precautions that contribute to the desired effect. Let us consider each of these separately.

Shadows, thrown in long drawn-out splashes across walls and walks, more than anything else make one feel that he is "looking into" a picture instead of "looking on" a flat piece of paper carrying the images of the objects recorded.

The foreground should be well broken up with shadows so that there is not too much contrast between it and the rest of the picture.

When a body of water can be included as a part of the foreground, then there are wonderful opportunities for adding depth. The reflection will carry one's attention back and away from the foreground—into the picture—and lead to the principal point of composition. Reflections often serve as an avenue to lead back from the foreground of a setting. The only precaution necessary when dealing with a water foreground in strong sunlight is to watch that a swell or wave does not throw reflected light sparkles upon the lens, as that may fog the picture.

Side-lighting, where the source of illumination comes from the side of the object or scene, and back-lighting, where the light comes from the rear, are not difficult to handle if the lens is protected from the light coming toward it. Shade the lens with the hand, or stand in the protecting shadow of a tree to make the exposure. Also, you should time the exposure more for the parts in shadow than for those that are highlighted.

Don't be discouraged if you fail to get the desired appearance of depth or "third dimension" in your first attempt. If at first you don't succeed watch for your contrasts and shadows and try, try again.

POPPY DAY

POIGNANT reminder of those spacious days of glory and grieving, "Poppy Day" once more recurs to prompt the citizens of this country in the duties they have inherited from the past generation. To Canadian youth in this year of grace, the deep-red petals of the Poppy may not carry the same significance they bore to the youth of seventeen years ago. The symbolism of sacrifice with which the poppy has become charged, is something to which the present generation succeeds only through the wistful memories of the ageing men who fought their Country's battles; who suffered privations, endured long agonies, and finally triumphed amid surroundings carpeted with poppies.

To wear this humble emblem on Poppy Day is to proclaim amid all the jangling confusion through which this country is striving valiantly to penetrate, the heart and mind are nevertheless attuned to a sense of homage due those men whose patriotism inspired 600,000 Canadians to offer themselves for service between 1914 and 1918. Of that number more than 60,000 found graves in France and Belgium. And it is over those graves that the poppy blows in perennial bloom.

The numbered dead were not strangers—they were young Canadians, filled even as the youth of today is filled, with the joy of living. So also were the 170,000 men who in 1935 still bear upon their bodies the marks and scars of war—the disabled ex-servicemen who suffered disablement on behalf of Canada.

To manifest that proud recognition of their place in this country: to mark that tribute which is their due, Poppy Day has been set aside in order that all may join in recalling the Great Sorrow.

The blood-red emblems distributed throughout Canada by the Canadian Legion's vast volunteer organization, are the product of disabled veterans, men striving to maintain themselves in the Vetreft Shops, administered by the dominion government. To purchase a poppy—is a small thing. For every citizen to do so—is a big thing.

The local branch of the Canadian Legion is arranging for a sale of poppies on Poppy Day.

"Let us ALL wear a poppy on Poppy Day!"

Evangelical Church Notes

Foreign Missions Day will be observed at the morning service Sunday. This service is sponsored by the Albright Brotherhood, and the men will attend in a body. In the evening there will be a Remembrance Day Service, the subject of the message being, "A Man of Ethiopia."

The Albright Brotherhood is presenting an illustrated lecture on "Migratory Birds of Canada," on Friday evening (tomorrow). The pictures are taken from Jack Miner's bird sanctuary. This should prove a very pleasant and profitable evening. Admission 25c and 10c.

The postponed meeting of the Brotherhood will be held next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the church. Rev Otto H. Rolis, of Bowden, will be the speaker.

Sees Delay in Social Credit Plan

A two-day caucus of Social Credit members is proposed to be held at Edmonton November 18-19, Premier Aberhart said Tuesday, following a cabinet meeting.

This would immediately precede the mayor's conference and the departure of the provincial government's delegation to attend the Ottawa conference.

One of the principal matters to be discussed at the caucus, it is expected, is the question of social credit legislation and what should be done about preparing for this at the next session, if this were found desirable.

Expressing his personal opinion, Premier Aberhart said he felt that it would be after the session of the legislature before plans could be laid for social credit operations. The necessary surveys, however, could be made before the session.

Lamb Feeding is Profitable.

The main profit of the Alberta lamb crop is often lost because the lambs are sent to market in poor condition. The experience of far sighted farmers and ranchers has shown that it pays to finish the lambs properly.

The Dominion Experimental Station at Lacombe states that lambs for feeding should be of good type, growthy and thrifty. Poor type, "leggy" or unthrifty lambs should not be used, nor should those that have not been docked or castrated, as the latter classes are subject to a heavy discount in price when marketed.

As the best price is paid for lambs weighing from ninety to one hundred pounds, a good time to start fattening them is when they weigh from sixty to sixty five pounds.

Many of the best lamb feeders start their lambs on rape or rape and barley pasture. Some of the lambs will finish and be marketed off this pasture. This is the most profitable way to fatten lambs.

The standard grain ration for fattening is a mixture of equal parts of oats and barley (or, lacking barley, wheat) coarsely ground or rolled, as sheep like something to chew. At first this mixture should be fed at the rate of one half-pound per day, and the amount gradually increased until from 1 to 1 1/4 pounds daily is being fed.

Good alfalfa or sweet-clover hay or hay made from any of the grasses and oat greenfeed, are good roughages. The greater the variety of feed judiciously used the better will be the results. The roughage should be fairly constant in quality, and in quantity all that the lambs will readily clean up.

If no legume hay is available it will pay to mix bran in the grain ration at the rate of 1 lb. of bran to every 4 lbs. of meal.

Rovers Go A'Roving

Here are five Canadian Rover Scouts on board the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York, in which they sailed from Montreal to attend the World Rover Moot being held this year in Sweden. Eastern and Western Canada are represented by the five, who, left to right, are: L. P. Dominik, of Peterboro, Ont., Allan Hiron, of St. Paul, Alta., A. B. Patterson, sea scout, of Oshawa, Ont., Kingston Webber, of Edmonton, and A. C. Kessler, of Saint John, N. B. The Canadian Rovers will form part of a British contingent of 1,500 attending the Rover Moot, or nearly half the entire number expected to attend. They will be in camp for six days at the Moot headquarters on Ingaroo Island, not far from Stockholm. Elaborate preparations have been made by the Swedish Rovers, hosts of the gathering, who are headed by Prince Gustaf Adolf, eldest son of the Crown Prince of Sweden. The camp will have a fire brigade, telephone system, post-office, hospital and will publish a daily newspaper in the four official languages of the Moot, English, French, German and Swedish. The Swedish Moot will be the second World Rover Moot. The first was held in Switzerland in 1931. Two of the five Rovers in the above picture, A. C. Kessler and Allan Hiron, attended the 1931 Moot.

4,022,567 Ballots Cast in Federal Election.

Canada's voters marked a record number of ballots October 14, it is disclosed by revised but still incomplete compilations by the Canadian Press of the voting by parties and provinces. With final reports still to come from many distant ridings, the survey showed that 4,022,567 of the 5,917,387 listed voters went to the polls.

Never before has the Canadian vote topped the 4,000,000 mark. The previous record set at the 1930 election was 3,898,995. The proportions of the vote by parties were not materially changed from those shown at the day of voting.

The major party vote compared with that in 1930 follows.

Correspondence.

To the Editor, Pioneer.
Dear Sir:

I would like, through the medium of your paper, to express my appreciation to my friends for the various ways in which they contributed toward the carrying-on of the recent election campaign; and also to thank all who voted on my behalf on October 14th.

Sincerely yours,

GEORGE CLARK

The following telegram indicates the feelings of Canada's Prime Minister regarding the efforts of Alberta Liberals during the last few weeks:

"I am very sorry that the constituency of Red Deer is not among the number to be represented on the government side in the next parliament of Canada, and that you yourself as the Liberal candidate should have suffered defeat. I hope, however, that you and the Liberals of Red Deer will feel that your combined efforts to win the riding have contributed in no uncertain way to the great victory which the party has won, and to the advancement of those principles and policies for which we have all battled so valiantly.

"W. L. MACKENZIE KING"

Mountain View Notes

The October meeting of the local W.L. was held in Community Hall. Many members attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Hugh McLean, held the same day.

Final arrangements were made for the tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Pearson, which was a decided success, adding a substantial sum to the depleted treasury. The organization extends its thanks to Mrs. Pearson for the use of her home, also to those who helped make the affair a success.

The Institute is commencing another layette, to be donated to a needy local case. This will be the third to be distributed this year.

The November meeting will convene at the home of Mrs. Bennie St. Clair.

WESTERDALE NOTES.

Mr. John Babki returned to Calgary last Wednesday and will be back here when threshing recommences.

The storm last week stopped all threshing in the vicinity. Harry Jackson has several days' threshing engaged whenever the winter will permit him to finish.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ruby and Mr. Jim Ruby (Clyde's father) visited Ferguson Bros.' sawmill last week, stopping at Didsbury to transact business and visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lou Boles on their way home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Boles, Ronald, Gordon and Mr. John Babki, motored to Ghost Pine Creek and Three Hills last Sunday, returning in the storm. They had supper in Three Hills with Ronald's sister, Mrs. Harold Brinson.

Items of Interest

Only deadheat of the Dominion election was decided at Amos, Que. last week by the casting vote of the returning officer, and Frank Blais, Independent-Liberal, was elected member of parliament for Chapleau by that ballot.

Capt. Alex McKay, of Nanton district, celebrated his 100th birthday Monday. Numerous friends attended the event. The captain still retains a vivid memory of leading events in his exciting life, both at sea and as an Alberta oldtime farmer.

Preparation of regulations under the Eight-Hour-Day Act and the act and the act providing for a weekly rest in industrial undertakings, is proceeding, it is announced by Hon. Norman McL. Rogers, minister of labor. This is being done in order that if and when these acts, passed at the last session of parliament, are declared valid by the Supreme Court of Canada, regulations may be ready.

Premier Aberhart's Social Credit scheme was assigned Tuesday by government officials as the reason for a deluge of applications from Alberta for naturalization. Indicative of the increases, applications from several major districts in the province for August, September and October, with figures for the similar period last year in brackets, total: Edmonton 466 (152); Camrose 70 (33); and Calgary 154 (62).

Obscure Seamstress Weaving Silk Strands On Liner's Compass Card

Important contribution to the safety of the new giant liner, Queen Mary, is being made by a little seamstress living in obscurity at Glasgow, Scotland.

She is Miss Edith Rankin, of Ben View street, to whom has been allotted the task of weaving gossamer strands of silk on the magnetic compass card, made of flexible material.

Lightness with strength are necessary with the compass card and these strands, which must be perfectly even, achieve the purpose. This accomplished, Miss Rankin's delicate fingers then sew on the magnetic needles.

"They have to be adjusted to a thousandth of an inch," Miss Rankin said. "A fractional error in fixing the needles can put a ship far off her course."

Miss Rankin works to this astonishing accuracy with the aid only of ordinary spectacles.

After years at the job she can tell almost instinctively by her fingers whether the magnetic needles are exactly in place.

Ships all over the world use compasses which have passed through her hands. "Does it thrill you?" she was asked.

"I suppose it ought to," was the reply.

Heavily Bandaged Kashmiri Indian Read Book He Had Never Seen

With his head swathed in bandages save for an aperture for the nose, Kuda Bux, a Kashmiri Indian, read rapidly from a book he had never seen before several eminent doctors in London recently. They included Professor Edward Andrade Quain, Professor of Physics at London University, Dr. J. G. Porter-Phillips, superintendent of the Bethlehem Royal Hospital, and Dr. C. Jennings Marshall, the surgeon. Dr. Marshall bandaged the Indian placing two lumps of sticky dough over the eyes. On these was laid a large pad of cotton round which a broad bandage was tied over the face, on either side of the nose, and another passed over the mouth. Kuda Bux is known as "the man with the X-ray eyes."

Scientists Find Coldest Spot

Temperature In Siberian Town Is Minus 102 Degrees

Soviet scientists have just decided that Di-Mekon, in Eastern Siberia, is the coldest place in the world. This is why. Water thrown from a bucket there freezes before hitting the ground and instead of splashing breaks. The usual temperature there is minus 102 degrees Fahrenheit. But the inhabitants don't mind. On the contrary they complain of the damp in Moscow.

Would Irrigate Desert

Rain-Maker Confident He's Invention Could Make Sahara Fertile

The Sahara desert is the richest agricultural land in the world. But it has never been properly exploited. This is the opinion of Monsieur J. Dubosc, French scientist, who claims to have invented a machine for producing rain at will.

A "rain tower" of cement, that would rise more than 2,000 feet in the shape of a funnel, is the "rain machine" that Monsieur Dubosc claims would bring refreshing showers.

This tower, which is the small model he wishes to build for the Paris Fair in 1937, works on a hot air principle. Hot air would be sucked up the funnel and condensed around the top, thus creating rain. This hot air would be produced by the sun's rays on a glass house at the foot of the tower.

Monsieur Dubosc explains that this tower, which would be twice the height of the Empire State building, would not be sufficient to irrigate the Sahara.

"Half a dozen 'big' towers would be necessary, but with them the Sahara could be fertilized in a short time," he stated.

The Champion Tea Drinker

Bristol Woman Never Takes Less Than Thirty Cups A Day

The average tea consumption of the people of Great Britain is about five cups each every day of their lives. As this figure includes babies and those few who never drink it at all, it is obvious that the consumption must be higher than that. Enquiries recently made in London and elsewhere have disclosed that a daily consumption of ten and twelve cups is by no means uncommon, and that there are many people who habitually drink even more than that. So far the champion tea drinker appears to be a woman living in Bristol who claims that she never drinks less than thirty cups a day, and that she has never been ill in her life. Even Dr. Johnson drank only twenty cups a day.

REGAIN VIGOUR quickly

PATTERN 5448

Personality—the chief feature of a good mascot or an adored toy. Here it is in this curly-eared, curly-tailed dog. Maybe he's a Pomeranian, perhaps a spaniel, but he's certainly a full-breed when it comes to being a joyous toy. His tail is a lovely handle—his floppy ears are sewn in so securely even pulling can't dislocate them! And his tail will be just as part as this when you make the dog, for it's properly stuffed. As a mascot, he'd be lovely in a gay print or real loud velveteen—a mascot must be heard, of course!

In pattern 5448 you will find a pattern and detailed directions for making the dog, and material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published

A Sky-Scraper Man

Measures Seven Feet Six Inches And Is Still Growing

The world's tallest man must surely be Hans Shlihter, who, not long ago at the age of twenty measured 7 feet 6 inches in height. He was examined by doctors who believe that according to his record, he will reach nine feet before he stops growing. It takes six and a half yards of material to make him a suit. All his relatives are normal in height. Hans' ambition is to become a film star. A club was founded recently in Yorkshire for men who were over 72 inches in height. They clubbed together to protest against small chairs, inadequate leg-room in cinemas, and dwarfed head-room in trams and buses.

A new type of school has been opened in Tokio, Japan, under auspices of the war department for the purpose of teaching daughters and sisters of army men how to become perfect brides of military men.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge.

Jack Nelson, Matthew Adam, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthews' uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they collide with a bus full of school children, which was stalled across the road with its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and do all they can to help. The next morning Jack sets out for help in the blizzard.

Now Go On With The Story

CHAPTER XX.

Long as he lived Matthew Adam was never to forget the terror that possessed him when, after hours of tramping snowdrifts, he stepped into that stalled school bus. And, perhaps strangely, his first glance fell, not on Nancy, but on the mound of apparently lifeless children beyond her. Then, all in a breath, they focussed on the girl herself—a girl only half clad, her hands moving mechanically in an effort to bring circulation into a boy's small feet which were, it transpired later, not frozen so badly as her own. Her head, drooping forward on her breast, lifted with difficulty as the door opened, then dropped again, but not too soon for Matthew to have seen the glassy look that clouded her blue eyes.

"Nancy!" he cried. Just that. He was on his knees—had snatched at the fur coat and wrapped it 'round her. It seemed to him that the girl fought back the overpowering drowsiness by a supreme effort. One icy hand groped for his cheek, as if to make sure that he was flesh and blood. She struggled to speak—struggled so valiantly that Matt's eyes misted with pity when, after a moment, the words came.

"Find . . . Jack. . . . You must find Jack, Matt. . . . And . . . and then take . . . the children. . . . I am . . . all . . . all right. . . ."

After that Nancy knew nothing at all for a long time. She retained only a confused memory of rousing for a moment to find herself in a room that seemed very full of people; wondering why Matthew Adam and a strange woman were packing snow about her legs; and hearing a child cry out as if in pain.

She recalled that later (how much later it was impossible to say), she had cried herself with such pain as she had not imagined; and then things blurred again. Even the long ride to the hospital was but a dim remembrance of being wrapped in blankets and held tenderly in strong arms. Once, they told her, she opened her eyes and asked for Jack, but drowsed again before the answer came.

Her first clear memory was waking to a sense of intense suffering, and seeing bright sunlight dancing across her bed. It was a white bed in a small, white room; and a white-clad woman was speaking to a shadow in the door. Nancy's eyes travelled upward and saw a cap. So the woman was a nurse. And this must be a hospital. "But why am I here," she asked herself confusedly. "And what has happened to my legs?" Then she remembered! Those dreadful hours of cold and hunger—those helpless children—Jack facing the blizzard all alone. And suddenly Nancy Nelson was just a little girl again, a frightened little girl who yearned for the comfort that had never failed her when life seemed cruel—and life had never been so cruel before. She said, her voice breaking a little: "I want—I want my mother."

"Thank God!" said the nurse; and the tall shadow in the doorway turned into Matthew Adam—a gaunt and haggard Matthew to be sure, but comfortably familiar amid the strangeness. Two quick strides brought him to Nancy's bed, and bending down he lifted one of her hands gently.

"Thank God!" he said, just like the white nurse; and then anticipating the question she was too weak to ask: "Jack got there, Nancy. He reached Bartlett's before we did; but the wires were down so Mrs. Bartlett couldn't call for help, and her husband was hunting for cattle in the drifts. But if Jack hadn't gone there's no knowing when we'd have found you, Nancy. He was all in, of course, but—but he will be all right."

This was Matt's verdict, not the doctor's; nor did he add that Jack was only a room away, fighting pneumonia. Time enough for that knowledge when she was stronger. Then the nurse warned: "That's all for now, Mr. Adam," and Nancy opened her eyes, which had grown sleepy, and asked: "The—children?"

"All safe," Matt answered; then, as a cry of pain escaped her, "Oh, Nancy! is it as bad as that?"

Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub

VICKS COUGH DROP

It was very bad indeed, but with returning strength came self-control, and though there were times in the hours to come when her face twitched with anguish, no whimper passed the girl's lips again.

Later she woke to find Cousin Columbine beside her bed.

"How do you feel, child?" The crisp old voice was shaken with emotion. Nancy scarcely recognized it.

"How's—Jack?" she asked. "I'm stronger than Jack. I . . ."

The weak words lagged, and Cousin Columbine said quickly: "Your brother's making a brave fight, child. I always said he had the courage of a pioneer. And you have too, Nancy. I—I am so proud of you."

Nancy said nothing for a little while. Scenes from those tragic hours were crowding back.

"You were right—about the—the weather, Cousin Columbine," she admitted in a curious, small voice. And then, a tear slipping from beneath her lashes: "I wish . . ."

"What do you wish, dear?" asked the old lady, bending closer.

Nancy tried to smile, but found herself too spent to manage it. "I'm only a—a little homesick," she acknowledged.

A nurse came in just then with a strange doctor; and Cousin Columbine went out. They looked at her legs, and brought another doctor to look at them. Nancy wondered what they were thinking, but was too tired to ask and dropped asleep before they left the room.

It was night when she opened her eyes again. A dim light burned, and a different nurse was there, and a new doctor. No, it wasn't a doctor, Nancy saw after a moment. It was just Matt Adam. She heard the woman say to tell Miss Nelson that her niece was sleeping, and that after a consultation the doctors felt that, after all, she wouldn't lose her feet.

Now how in the world, mused Nancy, only half awake, could you lose your feet even if you wanted to? That nurse was crazy. She spoke as if your feet could be mislaid like a pair of gloves or a pocketbook or something! The idea made her almost laugh. Then, realizing that Matthew was about to leave, a wave of homesickness swept over her again, and she protested.

"Don't go, Matt!"

Again the unexpected voice startled her nurse; but Matthew came close, and stood there looking down at her. Then some one turned up a light, and Nancy saw how unbelievably tired he was.

"Better?" His voiced was heavy with fatigue and long anxiety.

Nancy nodded.

"Where's—Cousin Columbine?"

"In bed. It's pretty late. She's staying down here to keep an eye on you."

"And—Jack?"

There was a noticeable pause before Matt answered steadily: "Don't worry about Jack, Nancy. That kid's the dandiest fighter you ever saw!"

The nurse turned at this, and going to a window, did something unnecessary to the curtain; while Matthew, bending down, said quietly: "Is there anything I can do before I go, Nancy?"

"You're so tired, Matt," she answered with irrelevance.

He smiled at that and didn't look so tired after all; but the girl said: "You won't drive up the pass to-night, will you? Promise you won't—or I'll worry."

"I promise. I'll stay down here with John. Mother thought Miss Columbine might need me in the morning—for errands or something," he added hurriedly. "Now be a good girl, Nancy, and go to sleep."

"Couldn't you stay till I drop off?" she pleaded. "I'm kind of—homesick."

Matt glanced at the nurse, not knowing what rules there are in hospitals; and at a nod sat down by Nancy's bed.

"We can't let you be homesick," he told her gravely, "but you mustn't talk."

As the nurse (smiling in a manner that would have brought a blush to the young man's cheek if he hadn't been so utterly self-conscious in that moment) turned down the light and left them for a little time, it seemed to Matt that all his weariness had dropped away. Nancy wanted him there! No matter what happened, he'd always have that to remember. He might be awkward and

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

bashful where most girls were concerned, but now, when she was weak and suffering, the one girl in the world had asked him to stand by. After all, life was pretty wonderful, thought Matthew Adam, forgetting in the moment, the grim fight waging in the room beyond.

HEALTH-GIVING MINERAL SALTS IN SASKATCHEWAN LAKE

WATERS OF LITTLE MANITOU RICH IN NATURE'S MEDICINES

FOUND MORE ABUNDANTLY HERE THAN IN OTHER WORLD FAMOUS SPAS

More and more the marvellous heritage of Canada is impressed upon Canadians.

More and more, Canadians talk about the wonders of Little Manitou Lake—whose curative waters abound in health giving minerals—more potent than the famous waters of Carlsbad in Europe—situated near Watrous, in the Province of Saskatchewan. Tons of Salt Crystals gathered from this Canadian Lake—scientifically refined and presented in highly concentrated form—non-effervescent—are sold through your retail Druggist under the name of SASKASAL. Like the famous waters of Carlsbad, Saskasal is invaluable in the treatment of Rheumatism—Neuritis—Mild Stomach Disorders—Kidney and Liver troubles—Impure Blood—Skin Eruptions and Constipation.

If you are not enjoying rigorous health, or if you suffer from any of the above complaints—try a treatment of "Saskasal". One size package—one price, 69c. Let us send you a FREE sample of SASKASAL. M1 MAIL THIS COUPON TODAY

Garage Changes Hands

The XL Garage changed hands this week. The new manager is Mr. J. E. Moffatt, who comes here from Clareholm. Mr. Moffatt is an experienced garage man, having been in the garage business in the south country for the past 15 years. He is offering a prize for a new name for the garage. See advertisement on inside page.

Bible School Opened.

The Mountain View Bible School opened this year with forty students and a number more are expected to enter in the near future. The students come from all parts of Alberta, Saskatchewan, South Dakota and Washington.

Mrs. Hallman is at present acting as preceptress until Miss Eby has completely recovered from the operation which she underwent recently.

Rev. A. Traub, president of the school; Miss L. Dagner, of Puyallup, Wash., and Miss M. Anderson, of Galahad, Alberta, are the other members of the teaching staff.

Tenth Anniversary of United Church.

During the past four weeks conventions in connection with the tenth anniversary of the United Church of Canada have been in progress in the eastern provinces, and are now to be held in the West. These gatherings are part of the general anniversary celebration and are an important part of the program. They are planned with the object of bringing home to the members and adherents of the churches a realization of what has been accomplished in the ten years which have passed since the United Church was formed and to afford an opportunity for discussion on the direction to be taken in the next decade.

"Know your church" is one of the keynotes of the conventions, and the work now being carried on in the various departments of the United Church and its obligations will be dealt with by some of the noted speakers of the denomination who are coming from eastern Canada.

One of the western conventions will be held in Calgary on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 26 and 27, and a committee has been appointed to make the necessary arrangements. Announcements will be made later concerning the program and the names of the speakers.

WEDDINGS

MONCEY—TEYNOR.

At the home of the bride's parents, Elkton, on Monday, November 4, 1935, Lavina Louise Teynor and William Henry Moncey of Didsbury were united in holy matrimony, Rev. F. Vincett officiating.

After the ceremony about twenty friends and relatives of the bride and groom sat down to a wedding breakfast which was enjoyed by one and all. Mr. George Dippel, of Didsbury, acted in the capacity of master-of-ceremonies, ably assisted by the brothers of the bride.

The newlyweds left for a short honeymoon in Calgary, following which they will take up residence in the Elkton district. The numerous gifts are evidence of the esteem in which these young people are held.
